ENGLAND WILL STAY IN PEKIN.

BE ENOUGH SOLDIERS FOR SAFETY.

This Independent of the Other Powers—A Premitive Expedition Starts Out to Avenge the Murder of Missionaries—Tuan Waiting on Russia.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Shanghai, Sept. 6.—Prince Tuan is reported to be in hiding in two days' journey to Pekin, awaiting the result of Russia's purpose.

A refugee from Pekin reports that the allies are preparing for a premitive expedition to Pooting Fu, to burn Boxer villages in route and inflict punishment for the murder of missionaries. The expedition may extend its operations further north.

ENGLAND WILL KEEP TROOPS AT PEKIN

London, Sept. 4, 4 a. m.—Sir Alfred Gazelee's dispatch, which shows that the situation in Pekin was unchanged on August 29th, is the only Chinese news this morning. An order holding back the Fourth India Brigade was cancelled and is regarded as important. It shows that whatever the outcome of the Russian policy, the British government is determined to have sufficient troops on the spot adequate to protect British interests.

Considerable significance is attached to a statement by The Journal de St. Petersburg, the organ of the Russian foreign office, which, while announcing Russia's determination to maintain the solidarity of the powers, only mentions the withdrawal of the ministers, and not of the troops, to Tien-Tsin. It is believed that the powers might agree to such a modification of the original Russian proposal. The Vienna correspondent of The Times, discussing the situation, declares that Japan has a strong disposition to act in harmony with the United States in the Chinese question.

A Shanghai dispatch announces that German troops will land there today (Thursday). Curiously enough, they will be located in barracks adjoining the residence of Li Hung Chang.

AN OLD LANDMARK TO GO.

"Herring Row" to Give Place to Handsome Buildings—Other Improvements.

It is the intention of Dr. Benbow, as soon as convenient, to tear away the old wooden buildings on North Elm, comprising what is known as "Herring Row," and erect in their place handsome, substantial structures. The buildings will be in keeping with the other improvements being made by Dr. Benbow, and will add immensely to the appearance of this portion of the city.

It is reported that Dr. Benbow will also erect a building on the lot adjoining the Greensboro Loan and Trust Company's property, between the McAdoo House and the Odell Hardware Company's.

The news of the above contemplated improvements will be received with genuine pleasure by every citizen of Greensboro.

Central Business College Opens.

The Central Business College, located on West Market street, has opened with bright prospects. The attendance is very good, considering the fact that this is the first term of the institution.

Full instruction is given in bookkeeping, shorthand, typewriting, English, etc. Prof. George W. Broyles, the principal, is assisted by competent instructors.

A Drunk Man Takes in the Town.

A man in an extremely intoxicated condition was driving around town in a buggy last night. He was alone, and whenever it suited his fancy stopped to commune with himself. He proved himself to be a reckless driver and came very near running over several persons on Asheboro street. At 11 o'clock he was sitting in his buggy on West Sycamore street, holding an animated conversation with himself.

For a wonder he was not molested by the police officers.

This afternoon Frank Sanders and Zeb. Fuller, two colored men, had a bloody fight on South Elm street. The trouble arose over the former's wife.

HIGH POINT MILITIA.

A Company to be Organized With Forty-Five Members--Local and Personal.

Correspondence of The Telegram.

High Point, Sept. 6.—Mrs. Frank Gurly entertained quite a number of her friends last night in a most delightful manner. The occasion being the seventh anniversary of her marriage. Delicious refreshments were served in due time, and all present voted the evening a most pleasant one.

Dr. W. J. McRually is in Baltimore on medical business.

R. P. Ellis is spending a few days in the city.

The family of Mr. Joe T. Leach have returned to High Point, where they intend to make their future home. They are living in the new house of Mr. Ben Best on English street.

Dr. F. M. Register, of Rockingham, is spending a few days in the city.

Misses Annye Tomlinson and Emma King have left for Guilford College.

Miss Annye Blair, of Asheboro, has come to live with her sister Mrs. A. M. Rankin. She will enter school here as soon as it opens.

Miss Ethel Steed, of Steeds, spent yesterday here.

The boys and girls are beginning to leave for college. About six have already gone, which is a small percentage of all those going. High Point sends about 20 to college this year.

Bat shooting is the chief amusement for the boys just now. Every evening a crowd of boys go down to the pond, where the bats are very plentiful.

Geo. P. Leach is having the Belvue Hotel remodeled. The roof is being painted and new electric call bells are being put in. Mr. Leach will do everthing to make the place attractive.

The young men of High Point have for some time been discussing the subject of organizing a military company, but have taken no forward steps until at present. It now looks very much as though we will have a company here. A few days ago it was decided to make a forward movement, and forty-five names have already been handed in, enough for a company, and many more are still being given. The boys meet next Tuesday night to organize, draw up resolutions and elect officers. The company will be known as the High Point Rifles. There is no reason why the patriotic High Point boys should not have a military company, and we wish them much success.

Miss Sally Jones, the pleasant young lady from Richmond, Va., who has been visiting Mrs. E. W. Steele, returned to her home yesterday morning.

Lindsay Hopkins is in the city on a visit.

Prof. A. Busit Hart, of Columbia, S. C., is teaching a dancing school here in the Business Men's Hall. His class numbers about twenty, and is progressing very nicely. The young men like Prof. Hart very much and say he is an excellent teacher.

Marvin Jordan spent yesterday in Greensboro.

Ed Millis, in company with his father, left for Asheville yesterday where he will enter Bingham's Military School as a cadet.

Some of the High Point people went down to Asheboro yesterday, on the 1 o'clock train to see the fire.

James Scroggs, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. J. O. Walker, in Randleman, returned home last night.

Mr. Joyce's Campaign.

Mr. J. R. Joyce, who received the Republican nomination for Congress in this district yesterday, tells The Telegram that he will conduct his campaign from his home in Reidsville. Of course the State headquarters of his party, located in Greensboro, will render him considerable assistance. Mr. Joyce could not say whether there would be a joint discussion between him and his Democratic opponent, Hon. W. W. Kitchin, but he intimated that such an arrangement would be agreeable to him.

Praise From High Authority.

One of the contractors on Vanderbilt's place at Biltmore was here today and took a look at Dr. Benbow's new building on South Elm. He was surprised to see such a structure going up in a town the size of Greensboro, saying it would be creditable to a city of 100,000 inhabitants.

A DIVINE HEALER IN TOWN

GOSPEL PREACHER IS WITH HIM

Dr. Gilbert, the Healer, Wears Long Hair and Claims to Cure All the Ills to Which Human Flesh is Heir—Has Treated 3,000,000 People—The Young Negro Who Could See "About as Well as Before."

The spiritualist and the clairvoyant have tarried in Greensboro for a time, and now we have the divine healer with us. He landed in town yesterday afternoon and at once proceeded with the work of gulling the gullible. He announced himself as Dr. Gilbert, called of God to go up and down the land healing the sick and afflicted, curing the lame and the halt and restoring sight to the blind. He is accompanied by an intelligent looking man who goes by the name of the Rev. Mr. Sutton. The former's demonstrations of healing are prefaced by the latter's preaching.

The two men stood on a goods box in West Washington street last night, between the stores of J. W. Scott & Co. and Rankin, Chisholm, Stroud & Rees, and harangued a small crowd of idle curiosity seekers for the space of two hours or more. They sang a little, after which the preacher announced that the usual gospel service would be dispensed with; that he didn't believe his preaching would do the crowd any good at that time. He did not doubt that the people before him needed preaching, but he did not propose to be the agent to supply them with gospel bread just then.

Following this announcement, the divine healer arose and made a rambling talk, while the evening zephyrs gently played with his long auburn tresses. He told much of his biography; in fact, the greater part of his talk concerned himself and his work in England, Australia, Africa, Egyt, New Zealand and America. He had been in the healing business since he was 14 years of age and had treated exactly 3,000,000 people, having cured 100,000 paralytics. Through his ministrations the blind had been made to see, the lame had been made to leap with joy, and the deaf had been made to hear.

An innocent bystander asked if he could relieve financial depression and cure general apathy, but the fantastic healer was too busy telling of how he conquered rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, headache, lumbago, pain in the side, etc., to answer the question.

A call was made for subjects upon which to demonstrate the healing power, and after considerable delay, a young negro, partially blind in one eye, walked out under the clear moonlight and up to the "hoodo doctor." The latter went through a few motions and told the subject to "go and see." When he rejoined the crowd, and upon being questioned as to the efficacy of the "treatment," the colored youth said he believed he could see about as well ws he could before. He appeared to be about in the condition of the fellow that passed his hat around for a collection, and obtaining nothing, said he was durned glad to get his hat back.

The healer announced that he and his co-laborer would give three performances daily—morning, afternoon and night. He extended a cordial and pressing invitation to all the colored people to attend, saying he wanted them to gather close around the goods box upon which he stood and join their voices in a concord of sweet melody of song and praise. By way of parenthesis, he added that he intended to heal fully 3,000 colored people while in Greensboro, from which it may be inferred that he considers this city a most unhealthy place for negroes.

The white people were also invited to come out to the meetings, and they were even given the privilege of singing a little; but nothing was said of them "coming close up," as in the case of the negroes.

During the performance last night a collection basket was conspicuously displayed on the stand.

At Durham yesterday, the jury in the case of Simon Harris, charged with the murder of Tom Tate, returned a verdict of guilty of manslaughter, and Judge Hoke sentenced Harris to ten years in the State penitentiary.

The Observer says that many Fayetteville people will attend our Fair.

WOMAN DROWNED IN NEW YORK.

Thought to be a Visitor to the City—Well Dressed and Clutched a Pair of Spectacles.

By Wire to The Telegram.

New York, Sept. 6.—The body of a well dressed woman of middle age was found floating off the Battery this morning. She clutched in the right hand a pair of gold spectacles which indicates some surprise. Two letters were fouud in her pocket, addressed to Mrs. Amanda Bunte, Medford, Wis. It is believed that the woman was a visitor to this city.

A MONTANA BANQUET.

A Former Greensboro Man Honored by His Employes—Mr. Wharton's Successful Career.

A recent issue of the Anaconda, Mont., Standard, contains and extensive account of a magnificent banquet tendered Mr. J. R. Wharton, manager of the Butte Railway Company, by the employes of the road. In the course of the report the paper says:

"The banquet was organized as a tribute of esteem toward this generous gentleman and a mark of respect from the men in his employ. The banquet hall of the pavilion was gorgeously decorated for the occasion. National flags, Japanese lanterns, palms and cut flowers were in profusion. Covers were laid for 36 guests and the table bore an abundance of all those good things which go to delight the inner man. In the center of the table was a magnificent crystal bowl, containing a load of beautiful flowers, which made the air redolent with the breath of the perfume. Across and above the head of the banquet table was suspended the three large letters in cut flowers, 'J. R. W.' These letters were formed with beautiful asters, roses, geraniums and smilax."

Mr. Wharton was presented with a costly solid gold watch, chain and charm of the handsomest design. In accepting the gift he made a very neat speech expressing his appreciation.

Mr. Wharton is a native of Guilford county and a brother of Mr. E. P. Wharton, of the Southern Loan and Trust Company. He went to Montana a number of years ago and engaged in the street railway business. He has been remarkably successful and is today recognized as one of the foremost business men of the State. One of the the principal owners of the syndicate with which he is connected in Senator Clark, one of the wealthiest men in the world.

Indian Compositions.

New "composition" stories are furnished by two young Indians whose efforts in this difficult line are reported by The Southern Workman.

The subject assigned to the first boy was the life of General Armstrong. Referring to the general's boyhood among the idolatrous, ancestor worshiping natives of the Hawaiian Islands, he wrote as follows:

"The people of the Sandwich Islands worshiped the idols of their aunts' sisters."

The second boy, a member of the same class, writing upon a different phase of the same subject, got the city of Washington confused with the man for whom the city was named. Referring to the retirement of General Armstrong from the service after the war, he said:

"When General Armstrong finished the war, he wrote to Washington and asked him if there was anything more he could do for him."

The Ugliest Woman.

The mother of the regent d'Orleans, who governed France during the minority of Louis XV, has been thrust into public notice lately as the one woman who ever acknowledged her own physical ugliness. A New York woman who is known to a great many people said not long ago: "I think I must be the ugliest person that ever lived, for in all my life I have never had a beau. No man has paid me one moment's attention beyond that of ordinary friendship. Every woman I know, and there are scores of abominably homely ones among them, has had at least one offer. Most of them have married, and the plainest of them all has had three husbands! Does not that prove that I am the very ugliest woman on earth?" If any one can give an instance of frankness to surpass that confession it should be printed immediately.—New York Tribune.

Dignity may stoop to conquer, but it never grovels in the dust.—Chicago News.

PREDICTS TREMENDOUS STRIKE

SAYS 75,000 MEN SURE TO GO OUT

President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers Thinks That the Biggest Strike the United States Has Ever Known Will Occur in the Athracite Region of Pennsylvania.

By Wire to the Telegram.

Indianapolis, Sept. 6.—President Mitchell, of the United Mine Workers of America, said today: "In my opinion there will be a strike in the Anthracite coal region of Pennsylvania, and it will be the biggest ever known. Of course the strike must be ordered by the executive council of the organization, but all indications point to a big tie up. I firmly believe that 75,000 men will quit the first day our men are ordered out.

NOT SO CHEERFUL A REPORT.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Sept. 6.—Now that the miners here have heard of the operators' refusal to grant their demands and know that the United Mine Workers will order a strike next week, they do not feel as satisfied as their talk last week would indicate. While the majority will probably obey the strike order, the men at each collier are asking what will the others do? There are fears that the strike will not be universal and that the men of one company may remain at work while others strike. The feeling is that it would be wise to wait and see how eagerly the strike call is obeyed. One hundred and forty thousand mine workers are in this region, and perhaps not more than fifteen or twenty thousand will strike next Monday.

RICHARD OLNEY FOR BRYAN.

Says There Are Objections to the Candidate and the Platform, Yet it is Better Than the Republican.

New York, Sept. 6.—The World today prints a letter from Richard Olney, Secretary of State during the Cleveland administration, in which Mr. Olney declares his intentions of supporting Mr. Bryan for President. After saying that Mr. Bryan is hardly the candidate he should choose if he had his way in the matter, and that he entirely dissented from the Kansas City platform, Mr. Olney says:

"Be it admitted that the Democratic party, its platform and its candidate are open to much just criticism, yet all things considered, would not its triumph be the best outcome of the political contest?"

Mr. Olney then criticises the policy of the McKinley administaation regarding the Philipines and thinks that the country will soon find itself in the toils of a Chinese problem even more costly and menacing than the Philippines problem itself.

We Beat Kentucky.

Mr. T. M. Arrasmith, a Kentucky horse trainer, was here yesterday. He drove out to the Central Carolina Fair grounds to look around and expressed himself as surprised at the elaborate preparations being made for the Fair. Mr. Arrasmith has been on every race track in Kentucky and he says none of them can compare with the one just completed here.

The Meeting Tonight.

Every citizen of Greensboro is urged to attend the mass meeting in the court house tonight. The subject to be discussed concerns every individual. Gen. Julian S. Carr, of Durham, will be present and deliver an address. He is greatly interested in the success of our Fair and will say something worth listening to.

Will Move to Greensboro.

Mrs. Nannie R. Sills and family will move to Greensboro from Winston-Salem. She has bought a house from Mr. C. W. Hoecker, on Spring Garden street, and will move into it in the near future. The deal was made through the real estate firm of L. H. Sturgis & Co.

Thompson—Hodson.

Mr. Charles Thompson, of this city, and Miss Bertha Hodson were married yesterday afternoon at the home of the bride's father, Mr. H. F. Hudson, near High Point. Rev. Joseph Peele performed the ceremony in the presence of a host of friends of the contracting parties.

FIGHT ON FORISENATOR.

Mr. Bryant Says the People Are in Dead Earnest About the Senatorial Business and Not Disposed to Wear a Collar.

Mr H. E C. Bryant, the well known traveling correspondent of the Charlotte Observer, contributes to that paper an article on the Senatorial situation, a part of which we copy blow:

The Senatorial fight in this State is now on in earnest. Gen Julian S. Carr, Hon F. M. Simmons and Col. A. M. Waddell are the candidates. All these are able and deserving men. Each has been loyal to the Democratic party under all conditions and at all times. Each has a personal following of worthy Carolinians.

At this stage of the contest, it looks as if the close fight will be between Messrs. Carr and Simmons. The battle will be hard fought. The forces are at work this early in the campaign, and were the election held today the result would be doubtful. Gen. Carr is developing wonderful strength among the people in every section of the State. His announcement was made ten days ago, and that of Mr. Simmons and Col. Waddell followed. Before the announcements of the several candidates, there was a widespread impression that Mr. Simmons would have a strong lead, but this is not true. If any man does not believe a hard fight is on let him travel over the State and come in touch with the people. He will find that many strong men are for Mr. Simmons, and that as a rule the party machinery is with him, but he will soon discover that the rank and file of the voters and many business men and strong workers in the State are for Gen. Carr. These are at work. The claims of the candidates are being pushed with energy and more or less system. So far, the fight is being conducted upon a high plane. It is good-natured, but serious.

This is the first time in the history of the State when the people have had an opportunity of electing a United States Senator. It is a serious problem with them, and they have gone about it in a business like way. They are not taking instructions from anybody, and with the usual North Carolina stubbornness, they are not disposed to wear a collar. They are considering and discussing the claims and the fitness of each candidate.

Party loyalty of one candidate does not seem to outweigh that of another. The records of the three men are clean and honorable. Mr. Simmons is active, brainy, and wears the laurels of three victories. The people of the State think of him as the man who lead them through two of the hardest campaigns waged in the State. Col. Waddell is a man of great ability, learning and character, and his friends claim that the famous campaign of 1898 was started by him. He is a man of burning eloquence and splendid force. Gen. Carr has been a lifelong Democrat. He has been in the thick of all the political battles since the war. His time, ability and money have been at the disposal of the party in each campaign since the civil war, and he has never refused to respond in a substantial way whenever called upon. Therefore, from a standpoint of party loyalty and work, no one of the candidates seem to have the advantage over the other.

DISBANDS NEGRO MILITIA.

Because They Engaged in Rioting on Labor Day the Governor Takes Their Arms.

Columbia, S. C., Sept. 5—Governor McSweeney today disbanded the Capital City Guards, a local colored militia company, which engaged in riotous conduct on the State capitol grounds on Labor Day. M. R. Cooper, Secretary of State, has forbidden colored Militia to use the capitol grounds hereafter. In the police court the rioting members were fined $40, and some double that amount for contempt. This is the best drilled company in the State, white or black, and has been largely supported by white people. But stringent methods were deemed necessary to avoid another clash.

The affair on Labor Day was caused by two young white men driving into the ranks of the negro company and enraging its members, who were not justified to the extent they went, clubbing inoffensive people with rifles. The negroes have ten thousand rounds of ammunition which they bought themselves.

R. S. Neal, contractor and lumberman, whose plant is at Carolina City, near Morehead, has made an assignment, O. H. Guinn and John Dunn, of Newbern, being named assignees. The estimated liabilities are $30,000. Mr. Neal is widely and pleasantly known and his failure causes surprise.

SUCCESS AND FAILURE.

The Higher the Purpose the Rarer the Achievement.

If by success we mean the full accomplishment of an end, the actual reaping of a harvest of results, then it is undoubtedly true that the higher and nobler the purpose the rarer will be the success. If we aim to relieve a man's hunger, we can quickly succeed in the easy task, but if we aim to inspire him with a desire to earn his own bread the work is more difficult and the success far more problematical. If we would restrain a thief from robbery, the prison bars and locks insure success, but if we would make an honest man of him our task is a complex one, and success may be afar off. We undertake to teach a child to read. If with requisite effort we follow up our task, we are successful, but if we aspire to raise the educational standard of our community how arduous the task, how uncertain the result, how questionable the success!

The low man sees a little thing to do,
Sees it and does it;
The high man, with a great thing to pursue,
Dies ere he knows it.

Is his life, then, a failure? No; let us never imagine that any high purpose, any noble thought, any generous emotion, any earnest effort, is ever lost. We may never witness its growth, we may not live to gather its fruit or even to see its blossoms, but we may safely trust that somewhere and at some time the harvest will be abundant, and success, long hidden, shall become apparent.—Philadelphia Ledger.

Large sun spots, astronomers say, caused the extreme heat this summer, and doctors declare nearly all the prostrations were induced by disorders of the stomach. Good health follows good digestion. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat. If you have indigestion or dyspepsia it will quickly relieve and permanently cure you. Howard Gardner.

FUSIONISTS WANT TO INDIGNATE

GOING TO DO UP THINGS ON THE 12TH

Dunn to be the Scene, but They Want a Monster One at Raleigh--Democratic Committee Starts the Ball for Legal Primaries--Table Resolution Regarding the Race Issue.

Special Correspondence of The Telegram.

Raleigh, Sept. 6.—Populists came here yesterday from Harnett county with news that a great indignation meeting is to be held at Dunn September 22, at which time Senator Butler and Oscar J. Spears are to speak. Senator Butler says in his paper today that he and the Republican State chairman are receiving great numbers of letters demanding that a monster indignation meeting be held at Raleigh by the fusionists.

The corporation commission yesterday took up furniture freight rates. J. L. Borden, of the Goldsboro Furniture Company, who was the complainant, appeared on behalf of the furniture manufacturers in North Carolina and asked to withdraw the complaint as the railways had restored the old rates which are entirely satisfactory. His request was granted. The next matter taken was that of the general classification of all freights. The following railway freight officials appeared. Horace Emerson, Atlantic Coastt Line; E. A. Neil, J. H. Drake, and G. G. Thompson, Southern; H. W. B. Glover, Seaboard; Henry Page, Aberdeen and Asheboro, and were heard in advocacy of classification number 27. The commission takes the matter under advisement until the next regular meeting, October 3. Meantime it desires information from boards of trade and shippers generally.

Congressman John A. Small, of the First district, is here and spoke most interestingly in favor of the Senatorial primary. He says he hopes to see a wide extension of the primary system and to see it legalized and the people taught to regard it. He says there is no opposition of any moment to the primaries.

Many prominent Democrats are here, some to attend the meeting of the Democratic State convention; others to attend the Fourth district Congressional convention. The following Central and State executive committeemen are here: James H. Pou, E. J. Hale, E. C. Smith, George Warburton, T. A. Woodward, C. E. Foy, T. S. Spruill, C. M. Bnsbee, R. R. Cotten, S. S. Holt, S. A. Ashe, H. A. London, N. B. Broughton, J. R. Webster, W. M. Webb, A. S. Willis, W. P. Boberts, W. J. Hawkins, Isaac Murchison, J. R. Young, R. H. Hayes, E. C. Briddingfield, Wiley Rush, B. S. Royster, J. S. Manning, R. D. Reid, J. S. Nelson, Herriot Clarkson, C. W. Boshamer, P. B. Means, W. H. Williams. Among the other Democrats here are Clement Manley, Winston; W. B. McRae, Rockingham; S. Gallert, R. R. Clark, H. A. Foushee, S. M. Gattin, B. H. Burns, E. S. Abott, R. H. Harill, O. W. Blacknoll.

John T. Johnson, of Bellhaven, is here and says he is right after the Republican nomination for Congress from the first district. He says Meekins was nominated by no convention at all but by a few of his friends, and says it is the Republicans in the district and not Carl Duncan and the other revenue and machine people who say and know Meekins is no nominee at all. When Johnson was asked if the nomination was equivalent to election he replied "Not much. It will take a hard fight to win." He was then asked if the Republicans proposed to poll the full negro vote and replied, "Yes, the full vote will be polled, every man we can get out."

The local interest here today centred on Democratic nomination for Congress by the convention tomorrow. Congressman Atwater is here. So are his friends. It was said this morning the Atwater opposition had organized last night, and that a newspaper was leading it. Some Democrats were heard to declare they would not vote for Atwater; that he was no Democrat and did not claim to be. The Atwater supporters are very decided in their position.

Republicans say J. A. Giles, of Chatham, will be their nominee for Congress in this district. Giles was in the last Legislature.

George Vogler, of Salisbury, an inmate of the Soldiers' Home, died there last night. The new hospital at the home will be completed next week, the contractor says.

The sheriff of Guilford county last night brought a negro to the penitentiary to serve a 25 years sentence for outraging a negro girl. It appears that the man submitted and that there was some kind of an arrangement or compromise which saved him from the gallows.

The stream of people who look at the body of Tom Jones, the wholesale murderer, never ceases, and the undertaker who has the cadaver in his place of business says nearly 5,000 have viewed it. He says the negroes show their hatred of Jones, some by cursing him or rather what remains of him. This looks like it was carved out of ebony. The embalmer thumps the forehead, the cheeks, the arms, the shoulders, and says Jones is "as solid" as wood. White cotton is around the upper part of the body and a pad of it around the neck, and this seems to Wake the contrast all the greater. The negroes take great delight in reviewing Jones, and out of several hundred excursionists who came here yesterday from Norfolk all save a few saw him. The undertaker shews another triumph of his art in the shape of a negro body, embalmed 2 years ago, and tells of a lady whose embalmed body was kept 23 days in order that the Undertakers' Convention might view it. Undertakers it seems take a great, we might say a reposeful, pleasure in these things.

State Veterinarian Cooper Curtice has returned from Tarboro where there was a bad outbreak of tick or Texas fever, which caused the death of 14 dairy cows belonging to Mr. McNair. Fourteen cattle which two months ago was brought and added to the herd caused the deadly outbreak. Ticks were on them. They were not fast, but they carried death with them. The tick is an expensive insect to North Carolina. Of the McNair herd no less than 35 cattle were affected.

At noon today at the Agricultural and Mechanical College there were 250 students. They are arriving on every train. Fifty have been rejected for lack of proper preparation. President Winston is renting all the rooms he can get and will try to take all who pass the examination.

At a meeting of the Democratic State committee last night, R. D. Ried, of Rockingham, presided. Provision were made for holding a senatorial primary in November, when the national election takes place. The following was adopted:

"Whereas, The Democratic organization of North Carolina is part of the national Democratic organization and this committee is custodian of the interest of said organization in North Carolina, and,

"Whereas, this committee is instructed to make provision for holding a primary on the first Tuesday of next November for the election of a United States Senator by the Democratic voters of the State, as well as by those who have voted the Democratic ticket in the State election, and,

"Whereas, it is the duty of this committee, as well as its earnest desire to stimulate as far as possible voting for Bryan and Stevenson and for the Democratic congressional candidates, therefore, be it

"Resolved, That the term 'Democratic voter' in the resolution of the State convention shall be construed to include all white and Croatan electors who voted in the November election for the Democratic presidential electors and for the Democratic candidates for Congress, as well as all white and Croatan electors who voted the Democratic ticket last August; that we hereby extend invitation to every voter in North Carolina not already so entitled, to qualify himself for voting in said sensational primary by casting his ballot on that day for the Democratic presidential and congressional tickets."

Immediately after adoption of the resolution describing electors for the primaries Committeeman Means offered the following resolution, which, on motion of H. A. London, was tabled by unanimous vote of the committee, except Col. Means.

"Resolved, That the insertion of the word, 'white' in the resolution of the primaries shall not be construed to mean any justification of raising again the race issue in this State, which we affirm again, as we did in the last campaign, has been settled in North Carolina."

Another resolution appointed nine members of the committee to be a canvassing board for the senatoiral returns, and one instructing this committee to prepare a system of legal primaries to be submitted to the legislature with a view to legalizing primaries, were passed.

At a sale, yesterday, of the stocks and bonds belonging to the estate of the late Samuel P. Alexander, of Charlotte, a batch of North Carolina six per cent bonds sold for 141.

"SPARTACUS."

The Author's Story of How He Came to Write It.

A writer in the Lewiston Journal who interviewed Rev. Elijah Kellogg says:

When asked if he had written any declamations besides "Spartacus to the Gladiators," "Regulus to the Carthaginians," "Virginius to the Roman Army" and "Pericles to the People," he replied that he had written "Icilius," but that it had never been published. Then he asked the writer if he had ever heard how "Spartacus" came to be written, and when told that he had never heard an authentic statement concerning it Mr. Kellogg said:

"During my first year in Andover Theological seminary we were required to write original declamations and declaim them before an audience. A committee of three seniors criticised the speaker publicly, and Professor Parke performed the same duty privately. I always dreaded to face an audience and especially to be criticised publicly, and so I thought I would write something that would so interest them in the story of it that the critics would forget to notice the errors, and so I wrote 'Spartacus.' When I had finished declaiming it, the professor asked the committee if they had any suggestions to offer, and they said they had not, but Professor Parke told me privately that there were errors that might be mentioned, but that he was glad I had made a departure from the old custom of declaiming nothing but sermons and moral disquisitions and had given them some rhetoric."

So the author of "Spartacus" was the first declaimer of it. Little did he think that he was the first of thousands of academic and collegiate youths on both sides of the sea to recite a composition of so humble origin. This bit of literary history is precious as coming from the lips of this grand old man, and this interview will forever have a safe place in the treasure house of the writer's memory.

THE PARACHUTE.

A Monk's Experiments In Air Flight In the Eleventh Century.

Credible accounts exist of an English Benedictine monk, Oliver of Malmesbury, in the eleventh century having tried to fly by precipitating himself from the height of a tower with the assistance of wings attached to his arms and his feet. It is said that having gone along a little way he fell and broke his legs. He attributed his accident to failure to provide his apparatus with a tail, which would have helped preserve his equilibrium and made his descent a gentler one.

In the sixteenth century Leonardo da Vinci first demonstrated that a bird, which is heavier than the air, sustains itself, advances in the air, "by rendering the fluid denser where it passes than where it does not pass." In order to fly it has to fix its point of support on the air. Its wings in the descending stroke exert a pressure from above down, the reaction of which from below up forces the center of gravity of its body to ascend at each instant to the height at which the bird wishes to maintain it. Some sketches which have come down to us prove that Leonardo occupied himself, like Oliver of Malmesbury, with giving man the power to fly by the assistance of wings suitably fixed to the body.

We owe to Leonardo also the invention of the parachute, which he described in the following terms: "If a man had a pavilion each side of which was 15 braces wide and 12 braces high, he might cast himself from any height whatever without fear of danger." It may be said, too, of Leonardo da Vinci that he was the first to suggest the idea of the screw propeller.—Appletons' popular Magazine.

Van Lindly two years ago estroyed 60,000 infested trees near Southern Pines for the same reason.

WINE OF CARDUI

WOMEN WHO WORK.

ST. LOUIS, MO., Aug. 12.

Though only 19 years old, I suffered from pains and female troubles two years. Last spring I got so bad I had to quit work. I had to support myself, and could not afford a high-priced doctor. I got one bottle of Wine of Cardui and that made me feel better. Have now used several bottles and am well. My mother used the Wine for Change of Life and was greatly relieved.

MISS MARGARET WALSH.

McELREE'S Wine of Cardui

Many girls and women find it necessary to earn their own living in various kinds of employment. Their work is often so hard and confining that the health breaks down. Their delicate constitutions are unfitted for tiresome tasks. Weakness nearly always makes its appearance in the peculiarly delicate womanly organs. Constant standing on the feet, and coming and going at the beck of a superintendent or foreman, induces falling of the womb, leucorrhœa, headache and backache. The pay of women workers is often so notoriously small that when sickness comes they have no money to engage skillful physicians. To them Wine of Cardui is truly a blessing. It cures them of their ills at a small cost, and they can act as their own physicians. No doctor can do as much for "female troubles" as Wine of Cardui.

"THE 'SALT' OF SALTS."

A Hot Weather Headache Cure.

During the excessive hot spells the liver frequently refuses to do its work properly. Bile accumulates instead of being thrown off through the kidneys. This accumulated bile works its way to the stomach and from the stomach to the blood. The whole system then becomes poisoned with it. The result is usually severe headache through the eyes and temples, accompanied by nausea and vomiting. Such attacks are easily and effectively relieved by the use of by taking laxative doses of the Salt every morning. Abbey's Salt is made from the salts extracted from the juices of fresh pure fruits and headaches, caused by Indigestion and Biliousness, are entirely cured by continuing the use of the Salt until the normal action of the liver and stomach is restored.

Sold by most druggists, or sent by mail.

25c., 50c and $1.00 per bottle.

"I am pleased to say that my experience with the use of your "excellent Salt" is very satisfactory, having used it recently in Nervous Prostration with wakefulness, headaches, etc., both of which were controlled by it. I desire to add my appreciation to the already large list of physicians who certify to the efficacy of your admirable remedy. It has a place among my reliables."

MORE LIBERALITY NEEDED.

Mr. Roosevelt, speaking in his official capacity as a nominee of the Republican party, was foolish enough to say that the Democrats were cowards at home and skulkers abroad. In his calmer moments, Mr. Roosevelt must know that this is false. The Democratic party has a history too long and too glorious for this charge to lie against it in the minds of sensible people. Mr. Roosevelt may very properly think that the best interests of the country would be subserved by the reelection of the Republican party. But when he goes to the extreme that he has gone, his record as a sensible man suffers. Nobody believes what he said on this subject.

On the other hand, Democrats say equally silly things about the Republicans. For instance, they say that Mr. McKinley aims to destroy the republic and set up an empire or a monarchy. This is quite as foolish as Mr. Roosevelts's assertion that Democrats are skulkers and cowards. Mr. McKinley could not overthrow the republic if he wished to, and there is certainly not the slightest danger of his attempting it. We may very well disagree with his foreign policy and think that the best interests of the country demand his defeat and a reversal of his plans, but it is no use to be talking foolishly about conspiracies to destroy the republic.

Each party has had undisputed control of the country more than once, and neither has destroyed it, and neither will. Mr. Bryan's election will not destroy the national honor, as the Republicans say it will. Mr. McKinley's election will not destroy the republic as some Democrats say it will. The future of the country is safe in the hands of either. In our land the peoare the country. The people both by breeding, by heredity and in principle, are honest and honorable, and Mr. Bryan could not dishonor the country if he wished to. Equally by breeding, by heredity and in principle the people are republican, and no man could build a monarchy if he desired. It would be like trying to grow a tropical plant in the frigid zone, it could never be climatized. We need more liberalitly and tolerance towards the views of each other, and more confidence in each other. Even in the heat of a campaign it is useless to go to the extreme that some of us do. It is hurtful.

Especially is this true in North Carolina. Democrats here judge the Republican party of the nation by what it is in North Carolina, which is incorrect. Republicans here judge the national Democratic party in equally as prejudiced a way. Here they have been beaten and vanquished so many times, and their hatred of the party that has so often drubbed them in the State, is injected into their views of the national party. In North Carolina we need to broaden our perspective, to look above the confines of our likes and dislikes. We need to learn that no party can have absolutely all the good and no party all the bad, and that while we should justly have our preferences, there is room for others to have theirs.

We welcome Mr. Olney to a seat on our platform.

In tabling Col. Means' resolution yesterday, we have no doubt that the Democratic Executive Committee did the best thing for party harmony, and certainly the best thing that it could do for the feeling of those gentlemen who have sought to revive the race issue. That issue is dead and it is now sufficiently clear that it cannot be revived. The people will not have it, but it would have been useless to make the pill too bitter for the boys.

The big old flag which the Republican ran up over their new headquarters in this city yesterday is a good deal frayed at the off end, something suggesting that it had been trailed in the dust. It has about the appearance that their great prosperity argument will have when their small sized stumpers have dragged it about over the State a good deal.

FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

Children In Cincinnati Library.

The most interesting feature of the Cincinnati Public library is the recently established children's room, where the little folks can be by themselves and secure books suited to their years and tastes. In the recent annual report of the board of trustees, compiled by Mr. W. T. Porter and which is the most complete and handsome work of the kind by any public official in recent years, Mr. Porter gives a picture and description of the children's room.

Mr. Frank B. Wiborg was the generous donor of the fund which fitted up the large, airy room on the fourth floor of the library, where frequently from 80 to 100 children can be found at one time engrossed in looking at pictures or reading books. He gave $1,200 for that purpose.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Learning to Swim.

A very safe and easy way to learn to swim is with the assistance of a rowboat. Get some one who is a swimmer and who has a flat bottomed boat to row in near the shore where you can reach the stern of the boat. There is usually a ring or hook fastened just above the water line, to be used when the boat is to be tied at both ends. Take hold of this hook with a couple of fingers of both hands, and then as the boat is rowed slowly off into deep water you will find that you do not sink, as you fear you will. Hold your head up, your face out of water, and keep your mouth shut. After you are a little accustomed to this mode of traveling begin the swimming motion with your legs, moving them as you have seen the bullfrogs do, who are expert swimmers. Draw them up quite close to the body, and then with considerable force shove them behind you, as if you were pushing against something in order to throw yourself ahead. You are pushing against the water, and it has so much resistance that it helps you ahead every time you push. Then take one hand from the boat and make the swimming motion you see other people make. Then rest that arm and try the other. In a very short time you will find that you can drop entirely away from the boat and swim a little alone, the boat keeping within reach of you all the while and the rower ready to give you any help. If you tire easily when holding to the boat this way, turn over on your back, keep your feet close together and float, still holding to the hook.

The Flowers With Wings.

Such a lot of yellow buttercups all in a meadow grew,
So many, many years ago, when all the world was new,
And you'd thought they'd be the happiest things with nothing else to do
But be cuddled up by Father Sun and fed by Mother Dew.

But I hate to say it wasn't so, for, when the birds would fly
High up among the mighty trees that towered to the sky,
They would watch them with such envy and lament and mope and sigh:
"Oh, dear, just see them skim along! Oh, why can't you and I?"

Now, the fairy of the flowers once was passing by that way—
To nurse a little primrose that was sickly, so they say—
And she heard them all bewailing to a blackbird on a spray,
"Oh, won't you let us have your wings a little while today?"

So the kindly fairy listened, and they told her all their woe,
And she summoned all the fairy knights, whose wings were white as snow,
And begged and borrowed every one—they've several pairs, you know—
And put them on the buttercups, the poor things pleaded so.

Oh, high they flew, and low they flew, the old sun blinked his eyes,
The breezes came a-chasing them, all laughing with surprise,
And ever since that day when first they fluttered 'neath the skies,
We've had the buttercups with wings and called them butterflies!

is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been to low and are just now getting reasonable. WILD BEASTS IN BATTLE.

Two Panthers and a Sea Lion In a Fight to the Death.

Among all fights of wild beasts perhaps the most terrible are those in which the combatants belong to different elements. The struggle then seems peculiarly wanton and unnatural. Not long ago two men on a small island off the Californian coast declare that they witnessed such a battle. The men were amusing themselves watching the antics of a number of sea lions on a reef when all at once the creatures began to bellow in alarm and dived into the water. One huge fellow alone stood his ground and moved his head slowly, as if watching.

A moment later the men saw creeping from the shadow of a rock two large panthers, which had evidently swum over from the mainland in search of prey.

Simultaneously the panthers leaped upon their enemy and a terrible combat ensued. For nearly 30 minutes it went on, till the reef was skirted with crimson foam.

Twice the lion struck a panther squarely with his flipper and knocked him a dozen feet away. But the great cats kept to their work, and finally one of them buried his teeth in a flipper of the sea lion, and tore it off with a single savage tug.

Bellowing hoarsely with pain and anger, the wounded bull caught the panther's throat between its jaws and dragged him into the water, but the big brute was weak from loss of blood. The panther escaped, and, with its mate, swam off for the mainland across the narrow channel, while the sea lion struggled out toward the ocean to die.

The men went down to examine the field of battle. A hole deep enough to bury a horse had been dug in the soft mud, while the shore was stained blood red.—San Francisco Call.

Somewhat Encouraging.

"Did that rich young Goldbag propose to you last night?"

"Not exactly, mamma, but he asked for an option on me for 30 days."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Hours of the Day.

Just when the day became divided into hours is not known, nor is the process explained. The Greeks and Romans measured time by the water glass and the sundial. The hourglass, filled with sand, was the outgrowth of these vessels, from which the sand dripped through a tiny opening.

OPENING OF GUILFORD COLLEGE.

All the Teachers Except Prof. Hodgin Met Their Classes—The College Never Opened More Favorably.

Correspondence of The Telegram.

Cuilford College, Sept. 6—Lecture work began at Guilford yesterday, all the teachers meeting their classes except Prof. Hodgin, who has been confined to his room for the past few days with fever.

The sophomore class in biology will this year have added facilities for study in Natural History. The equipment of the biological laboratory has been increased by the addition of microscopes. They are of German Leitz make, and are among the best made for college and university work. They were the gift of some friends interested in the scientific work of the institution. Each pupil in the class will have personal research to perform with the microscope in examining the impuritie in water, observing other minute forms of life and studying various animal tissue.

The college has never opened more favorably than now. Every room save two in both of the boy's dormitories contains two occupants and some three.

Foot-ball enthusiasm is in the air. When college closed at 4:15 last evening the athletes began to appear at once in their suits, going to the ball ground. An hour's vigorous kicking and punting the foot-ball showed that there are many new and awkward candidates for positions on the team. A number of match games have been arranged for this season, one of which will be with the A. & M. College on the new fair grounds at Greensboro during the fair.

Percy and Fenton Gentry, sons of J. C. Gentry of Greensboro, entered college last evening.

Not Following.

Farmville, Va,, Herald.

The Greensboro (N. C.,) Telegram is issuing a number of buttons advertising the Central Carolina Fair to be October 9-12. Our enterprising contemporary in following our example has given us one better in point of size, the buttons being twice as large as our Fair buttons.

[We were not following the Herald's example, not having known it had set one. This is no doubt a case in which great minds run in the same channel]

No Union Depot for Durham.

Durham Herald.

The representatives of the three railroads met here yesterday to discuss the depot matter and as a result we believe the chances for securing a depot are as remote as they were a year ago. In fact if the same spirit continues to exist it is safe to say there will be no union depot.

COLD STEEL OR DEATH.

"There is but one small chance to save your life and that is through an operation," was the awful prospect set before Mrs. I. B. Hunt, of Lime Ridge, Wis , by her doctor after vainly trying to cure her of a frightful case of stomach trouble and yellow jauntice. He didn't count on the marvellous power of Electric Bitters to cure stomach and liver troubles, but she heard of it, took seven bottles, was wholly cured, avoided surgeon's knife, now weighs more and feels better than ever. It's positively guaranteed to cure stomach, liver and kidney troubles and never disappoints. Price 50c at C. E. Holton's drug store.

The emergency bags sent by a church society to Kansas soldiers in the Philippines contained among the necessitities a box of BeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, the well known cure for piles, injuries and skin diseases. The ladies took care to obtain the original DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve knowing that all the counterfeits are worthless.

THE GRAND SCHEMER

A STROKE OF GENIUS THAT PUTS MILLIONS BEHIND HIM.

Major Crofoot Strikes a Genuine Good Thing and Divides, or Protests That He Is Willing to Divide, With His Chiropodist.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

It was the chiropodist from the floor above the major's office, and he passed the door two or three times before knocking, as if to get up his courage.

"Come in!" called the major in a bland and cheery voice. "Come right in! By George, but what a coincidence—what a coincidence! Not a minute ago I sat down to write you a note asking you to step down here. There is surely such a thing as mental telegraphy."

"You have owed me $1 for the last four months," stiffly replied the chiropodist as he lugged out a bill.

"Just so—exactly—just so!" smiled the major as he rubbed his hands together. "Yes, sir, about four months ago you removed two corns from my right foot. The circumstance is perfectly fresh in my memory."

"I WANT THAT DOLLAR!"

"And you said you'd pay me next day."

"I presume I did. Yes, I know I did, and I humbly apologize that it slipped my mind. My dear man, permit me to pay you $2—$3, $4, $5. I have a check here for $250. You may hand me $245 balance, and I shall be perfectly satisfied."

"I haven't got no $245," replied the man, "and I only want what is due me. I'll go to the bank with you."

"Don't! Don't do it! I'd never forgive myself for putting you to that trouble. Yes; I was about to write you a note. It was surely a curious thing—your coming down as you did. Doctor, do you know where I stood financially four months ago?"

"Mighty hard up, I guess," was the sullen reply.

"You've hit it. Yes, sir, I was so hard up that I didn't own the shoes to my feet. It was the hardest kind of work for me to raise a dollar. The cold, cruel world sneered at me and called me a deadbeat, but there were a few exceptions. You were one. In my darkest hour you had confidence in me. When I wanted those corns removed, you didn't demand payment in advance."

"I wish I had!"

"No, sir. You trusted in my word, and you aroused my deepest gratitude. I have offered to pay you five for one, but I shall not stop there. It shall be 5,000 and more for one. Can you sell out your business or give it away today or tomorrow?"

"Are you going to pay me the dollar?" sternly demanded the chiropodist.

"If you can't sell out, give it away, lock it up, throw it out of the window!" continued the major as he walked about the room. "My dear man, listen to me. Four months ago I was hard up for a quarter; today I have millions behind me—millions and millions. I may be said to swim in gold."

"I'll be hanged if you look it!"

"And how has the change been brought about? By my indefatigable genius, coupled with ambition. I looked around for a ten strike. It was a little slow in coming, but I hit it at last. What do you think of the Veal Cutlet Tablet company; capital, $5,000,000? There are the papers on my desk to perfect the organization and apportion the stock—over $2,000,000 of the stock subscribed for in advance at 70 cents on the dollar, and capitalists tumbling over each other to take the remainder. Doctor, let me congratulate you. Shake hands!"

"Over what? I'm after my dollar."

"Over your appointment as secretary of the company, at a salary of $10,000 a year, and you can begin work tomorrow. As an official you also have first choice of $20,000 worth of stock. You trusted Major Crofoot, and this is the result; this is your reward. Shake hands again!"

"Not by a durn sight! You might as well give up trying to work any cold deck in on me. I want that dollar."

"And it was my genius and my financiering which brought it about," said the major as he rubbed his hands and patted the chiropodist on the shoulder. "The thought came to me while I was eating a veal cutlet at my boarding house. Our veal tablets are exactly what the name implies. We prepare a cutlet for the table and then compress it and divide it into tablets. Every box contains 25, and the price is 15 cents. Two weeks hence they will be on sale at every drug store in the United States, and all doctors will recommend 'em. You don't have to wait for breakfast or dinner to get your cutlet. Just drop a tablet into your mouth and let it dissolve, and there you are. Can be taken with you to church, lectures, balls, camp meetings or horse races; should be in the hands of all travelers, hunters, sailors and baseball men. In less than three months they will drive every other tablet out of market. Invented, organized and named in less than ten hours and bound to pay dividends of 50 per cent. My dear man"—

"Look here now!" exclaimed the chiropodist as he pounded on the table. "I've come for my dollar! Don't try to stuff me, but come down with the cash!"

"And the company had only been named when I thought of you for the position of secretary," mused the major without seeming to have heard the indignant protest. "You were a man who had trusted me. When others demanded cash down, you gave me a show. My heart swelled as I thought of this, and I set the salary at $10,000 a year, payable quarterly in advance. Shall I draw you a check for the first quarter?"

The chiropodist looked at the major as if wondering if he had met a crazy man.

"I said $10,000 a year, but if that is not enough—if you feel that you ought to have $20,000—speak right up. I want you to be perfectly satisfied, you know. Will $20,000 a year be enough?"

"What about my dollar?"

"The tablets will be a go. They can't help but be. Let us walk out in the hall while I tell you that the public can't get enough of veal cutlets in their present form. They are always eager for more. They want the taste of cutlets in their mouths as they go about their daily routine. Fifteen cents a box in order to compete with potash lozenges, but a profit of 10 cents on every box! Take the sales at 10,000,000 boxes a year, and what do you get? You want stock. You want at least"—

"Not a blamed cent's worth! I want my dollar!"

—"at least $20,000 worth of stock. You shall have it. You have paid me $1 to secure it, and don't you worry. It will be made in your name, and later on— Excuse me."

The major stepped into his office and shut the door.

"Here, what's this?" called the chiropodist.

The major locked the door.

"Look here, you old deadbeat! I want that dollar!"

The major sat down at his desk and lighted the stub end of a cigar.

"You come out of that and pay this bill, or I'll bust the door down!" shouted the creditor as he gave two or three kicks.

The major calmly puffed away and gazed out of the window, and the look on his face would have reminded a beholder of buckwheat cakes and molasses.

"Then I'll lay for you out here and punch your old head! Do you hear me?"

The major did not hear. He was perfecting the organization of the Veal Cutlet Tablet company and wondering whether the Canadian general agency should be placed in Toronto or Quebec.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and othaches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to moke you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

EXCITING CHAPTERS IN THE LIFE OF A POLICE CAPTAIN.

A Hard Struggle For Life With a Stalwart Murderer and a Narrow Escape From Death at the Hands of an Armed Maniac.

"Yes, we have to deal with some queer people and some dangerous people," said a police captain, "and I must say, but not boastfully, that we now and then have to use judgment that is at once quick and reliable. I remember several years ago we had a highwayman in the station house who had shot a man and robbed him. He was a dangerous criminal and a mighty powerful man, and he was in a good position to go down for life or be executed, for his victim was at the point of death. One night he asked that I be sent to his cell. I had arrested him and had tried to get a confession from him, but all my efforts had been vain. He had taken a violent dislike to me, and he had laughed at all my endeavors. The deduction I made when I heard he wished to see me was that he had changed his mind and intended to confess, so I went to the cellroom and talked with him.

"'Captain,' said he in a confiding way, 'I want you to come in here and sit down. This secret is making a wreck of me, and I want to tell you everything.'

"He seemed quite penitent, and without any hesitation I opened the cell door and sat down on the bench beside him.

"'Is Mr. —— going to die?' was his first question.

"'The doctor says he cannot live,' I replied.

"'Then the chances for my going to the chair are better than good?' asked he.

"I replied that they were. The prisoner lapsed apparently into deep meditation, and while the spell was upon him he paced up and down the cell. Suddenly he slammed the door of the cell, placed himself before me and said in a rather fearsome voice:

"'I've finished one, and if I do two I can get nothing worse than the chair.'

"Saying which, he leaped at me, leading out a powerful blow as he did so. I was, of course, up and ready for him and had a billy in my hand. He had nothing but his big fists, feet and teeth, any of which he was ready and anxious to use, but he was twice a match for me even up. I don't know how I did it. If he had got the best of me just for a second, I would have been pounded to death; there is no doubt of that. I rapped him on the head time and time again with my billy, felt his blood flying over me, heard him snarl and also felt the imprint of his powerful fists. It took me five minutes to lay him out, and I must say that I never spent five busier minutes in my life. Oh, he's in prison now. He's doing 20 years.

"I remember another little experience I had that is not easy to forget. I was sitting in my private office one afternoon when a well built, stylishly clad young man entered, bowed pleasantly and sat down on the edge of the sofa.

"'I never was down in this part of the city before,' he said, 'and, being here, I thought I'd stop in and visit with you.'

"'That's right,' I rejoined. 'I'm always glad to receive callers.'

"I looked closely at the man. I couldn't place him at all. It seemed that I had seen him some place too. He was about 30 years old, was stalwart and had an attractive face that bore slight traces of dissipation.

"'Beg pardon, my friend,' said I, 'but I really can't just place you. I know we've met, but where?'

"'No, we haven't met before. I never saw you before today in my life. I'm from Baltimore. I've heard of you a lot of times.'

"The dialogue lagged for a few moments, and in that time I scrutinized the stranger. He mystified me in a small degree, and I was interested in him. He broke the silence:

"'Say, captain, I've got something very important to see you about. I'll just close this door, and it's just as well that no one knows what we do or say. Now, I wish first to impress you with the importance of this meeting. It is the most momentous occasion of my life, and on its success or failure depends my future. Captain (the stranger leaned over and whispered in my ear), I'm going to cut your throat!'

"I was sitting with my profile to the stranger, and he was leaning toward me. Casting my eyes sidewise, I saw that he held an opened razor in his right hand. I did not move immediately.

"'So you're going to cut my throat?' I said, quietly turning part way around.

"'Yes, captain. I have been commanded by God to do so. I'm sorry, but it must be done. Get ready.'

"'That's all right, my friend. I'm perfectly willing you shall carry out your mission; but, to tell the truth, I hate to get blood all over my furniture here. It wouldn't be nice to dirty up the office, would it? Suppose we go in the back room?'

"'That'll do. Come on,' rejoined the maniac quickly.

"I got up. The maniac's back was toward me. With one bound I had my arms about his waist and his arms pinned to his side. I then called for help, and two officers rushed into my office. It took four big men to put that maniac in a cell. He's in an asylum now."—Buffalo Express.

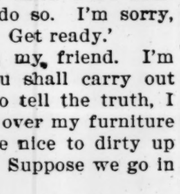
Rheumatism

Rheumatic pains are the cries of protest and distress from tortured muscles, aching joints and excited nerves. The blood has been poisoned by the accumulation of waste matter in the system, and can no longer supply the pure and health sustaining food they require. The whole system feels the effect of this acid poison; and not until the blood has been purified and brought back to a healthy condition will the aches and pains cease.

Mrs. James Kell, of 707 Ninth street, N. E., Washington, D. C., writes as follows: "A few months ago I had an attack of Sciatic Rheumatism in its worst form. The pain was so intense that I became completely prostrated. The attack was an unusually severe one, and my condition was regarded as being very dangerous. I was attended by one of the most able doctors in Washington, who is also a member of the faculty of a leading medical college here. He told me to continue his prescriptions and I would get well. After having it filled twelve times without receiving the slightest benefit, I declined to continue his treatment any longer. Having heard of S. S. S. (Swift's Specific) recommended for Rheumatism, I decided, almost in despair however, to give the medicine a trial, and after I had taken a few bottles I was able to hobble around on crutches, and very soon thereafter had no use for them at all, S. S. S. having cured me sound and well. All the distressing pains have left me, my appetite has returned, and I am happy to be again restored to perfect health.



SSS the great vegetable purifier and tonic, is the ideal remedy in all rheumatic troubles. There are no opiates or minerals in it to disturb the digestion and lead to ruinous habits.

We have prepared a special book on Rheumatism which every sufferer from this painful disease should read. It is the most complete and interesting book of the kind in existence. It will be sent free to any one desiring it. Write our physicians fully and freely about your case. We make no charge for medical advice.

A NIGHT OF TERROR.

"Awful anxiety was felt for the widow of the brave General Burnham of Machias, Me., when the doctors said she could not live till morning" writes Mrs. S. H. Lincoln, who attended her that fearful night. "All thought that she must soon die from pneumonia, but she begged for Dr. Kings New Discovery, saying that it had more than once saved her life, and had cured her of consumption. After three doses she slept easily all night, and its further use completely cured her." This marvelous medicine is guaranteed to cure all throat, chest and lung diseases. Only 50c. and $1.00. Playtime In the Senate.

Senator Butler once had a bill appropriating $5,000 to build a monument on the Moore's Creek battlefield, North Carolina, which was an especial object of Senator Wolcott's fun.

"Can the senator tell me the date of the battle?" he asked Mr. Butler.

"It was the first battle of the Revolution, 29 days before the battle of Lexington," was the reply.

"But cannot the senator tell me the day and the year?" persisted Mr. Wolcott.

Mr. Butler was stumped. "I can tell the senator tomorrow," he finally remarked.

"Then," replied Mr. Wolcott, "I will let my objection stand until tomorrow also."

A few minutes later Senator Wolcott relented, and Mr. Butler made another effort to get the appropriation agreed to. This time it was Senator Lodge who objected.

"Oh, don't object, Lodge," said Wolcott in a stage whisper; "he'll put the date of the battle forward a year if you are jealous on account of Lexington."

But Mr. Lodge continued to object, and the monument bill remained on the calendar.—Washington Post.

When Surgeons Are of No Use.

"The driver of the stage, which was rolling down the Rocky mountains as fast as six mules on the gallop could keep ahead of it, may have noticed that I was," said the man who was relating his experience, "a little nervous, for after a bit he soothingly said: 'No use to grip that railin so mighty hard, stranger. We shan't come to the danger p'int for half an hour yit.'

"'Then it's on ahead?' I queried.

"'Yes, three miles ahead, and I may say fur your benefit that the hangin on won't do any partickler good.'

"'But I don't want to slide off.'

"'And you won't. If anything goes, it'll be mewls and coach and the hull caboodle altogether, and as the drop is plump 800 feet you won't hev no use for arnica or stickin plaster arterwards.'"

NOTICE.

By reason of the protracted dry weather, water is scarce, and in consequence, we respectfully ask all parties to discontinue the use of their lawn sprinklers and fly pans, and keep an eye on their boilers depending upon the water works, till further notice.

SEPTEMBER ADVERTISING.

Business men differ as to when ads are the most productive of results. One heavy advertiser makes a special effort to attract custom in September, when so many people return from the seashore, mountains and country with new energy, ready to take up neglected enterprises; when children are to be started to school, and when preparations are to be made for winter occupations and pleasures. His purpose is to induce people to get into the habit of dealing with him.

We acknowledge no competition. The simple plain talk of the mighty dollar together with good value, is our great argument. We have just received a big lot of new fall and winter shoes. Call and see them.
